Get Creative For Climate Justice!

Dear Parents & carers,

We have an exciting project opportunity which links to our collective assembly discussing and reflecting on 'Our Wonderful World.'

Oxfam is launching an initiative across schools to invite children to express their thoughts on climate justice through Art. Oxfam asks young people to use their amazing creativity and send a loud and clear climate justice message to MPs and Government Ministers this autumn.

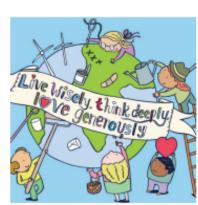

Burley Primary School will share pictures of our school exhibitions with the climate justice team. They are hosting a national art exhibition in the Houses of Parliament during the COP28 Climate Change conference in December. They want MPs and Ministers to see our school's art, be inspired and take action. It would be wonderful for some of our art pieces to be featured.

How to enter your artwork:

- It should be A1, A2 or A3 sized.
- 2. It should be produced on paper or card
- It may be created using paint, ink, pastels, pencils or screenprint, or be a print of digital artwork or a photo.

3. It should be accompanied by a brief caption or title outlining the thinking behind it and the first name and school of the artist.

4. It must be respectful and inclusive.

If you would like to enter a piece of your artwork for this project please ensure that you bring it into school by Monday 6th November 2023 for it to be photographed.
